I have examined the books of the town clerk, treasurer, selectmen, tax collector and trustees of trust funds, and find them properly cast and vouchered.

I have not however examined the reports of each as they will appear in the annual town report.

Auditor.

Report of the School Board

The annual meeting of the school district was held at the Town Hall March 10, 1936, at 7.30 in the evening, and the following officers were elected: Perley R. Bean, moderator; Robert E. Nixon, clerk; Francis N. Gray, treasurer; Eugene C. Patridge, auditor. Leslie F. Hayden, member of the school board for three years.

The school board met and organized as follows: Christopher A. Pollard, chairman; Gladys M. Smith, secretary.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Board of Newfields, New Hampshire:

It gives me pleasure to submit my annual report as superintendent of schools, the eighteenth in the series.

For the second year I submit several extra tables of statistics because, while this form of report requires a bit more study, it gives information about the schools not obtainable in any other way nor capable of presentation in so useful a way. These tables give pertinent information about numbers of pupils in the various grades and about the size of the grades. In the item "per cent of attendance," Table II, we see what degree of interest there is among parents in keeping children continuously in school. Newfields has an excellent record in this respect, as she has had for the past ten years, as shown in Table III. Other important items in this ten years' history are also shown in Table III. A comparison of certain items of school attendance, cost, and policy in Newfields with those of the districts she is associated with in Union No. 16 is shown in Table IV. It should be of interest to all.

The equalized valuation of municipalities, that is, the local valuation plus the valuation placed by the state on various items of property not taxed locally, is the basis of state aid to school districts. When the cost of education in a district exceeds one-half of one per cent. of the equalized valuation, this excess cost is returned to the district. The items concerned with this matter in Newfields during the last ten years are shown in Tables IV and V. The latter shows that the equalized valuation of Newfields has changed greatly in the last eleven years bringing with it consequent changes in the cost of education per $1000 of this valuation. In Table VI this cost in Newfields is compared to that of the districts of Monroe and Alstead, the lowest and the highest in the state, also to that of the four districts with which she is immediately associated in Union No. 16.

Newfields is fortunate in having teachers of maturity and experience who are interested in everything, in school and out, which concerns the education of boys and girls. Much besides what is between the covers of text-books goes into this education. The ethics of living together, the morale of the school, co-operation with the home, concern for health, the importance of good citizenship in both old and young — all these and other similar responsibilities are gladly assumed and ably discharged by our staff.

Thoroughness of preparation continues to be the watchword of our class work. Our schools are small enough to allow more than the usual individual attention to the particular needs of pupils. By various tests administered at various school ages much is learned about the ability and capacity of each pupil. It is our aim not only to keep the individual pupil employed at the top of his capacity, but inspired with a desire to do his best. Of the unusually large number (9) who entered junior high school last September from the local school, all are doing good work while a third of them are on the honor lists.

Your experiment in music this year is bringing good results. Mr. Wilson is, of course, included in what I have said above about teachers. The pupils have developed greatly improved tone quality and are learning to read music in a satisfactory manner. Constantly brought into contact as they are with good music, they are learning to like it and are finding the satisfaction which good music brings.

Our school nurse, Mrs. Sheehy, continues her frequent visits, examinations and check-ups at the school, and her co-operation with parents in this important part of education. As with all those who deal with children, she must have a large amount of care for individual needs of pupils. This care she practises to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Our school plant is neat and comfortable as the result of the work of our janitor, Mr. Hayden. Sometimes in appraising the values of education in the life of our children we overlook that of a well kept plant. Untidiness, broken windows, marred desks and the like if, allowed to be exposed to pupils long, are invitations to more misuses of the same kind. The opposite is equally true.

The supply of water for drinking and washing of hands has had a marked effect on the school. I feel sure that, when it can be afforded, an installation of flush toilets will have an equally good effect. A further need, probably available at small cost, is a device for mixing cold water with our fine supply of hot water so that danger of scalded hands may always be avoided.

I have reported the interest and good work of the administrative staff and the good condition of our plant. It cannot by any means be claimed that all the results of all our work are as we would have them. We strive constantly to see where improvements can be made and then we try to make them. We are highly gratified that the great majority of the pupils make good progress and we constantly study the way of inspiring and helping all the pupils along the same road.

The staff could not do this without your co-operation and that of parents, and it is my pleasure to express to you our thanks and to pledge to you our continued efforts to provide the best education and training possible for all our pupils.

Respectfully submitted,

CLIFTON A. TOWLE,

Superintendent of Supervisory Union No. 16.

EXETER, NEW HAMPSHIRE, February 2, 1937.
